Congratulations on purchasing a high quality Riley balsawood surfboard. I hope you have many enjoyable moments with this board – if you look after it you should have it for the rest of your life.

About the board

- It is made from balsawood which comes from Ecuador.
- It is glassed with polyester resin
- It can be repaired just like a regular board
- If you do get a large gouge in it – you can contact me and I can send you a piece of balsa – insert this, sand it and glass it.
- It should not be used within the first week of glassing (let it cure)

To take care of it

- After you ride it give it a wash with fresh water and wipe it down with a soft t-shirt or towel (this is not essential – but it will remove the salt and keep it looking shiny)
- If dusty or dirty give it a rub over with a soft cloth and some mineral turps or just water and then with a soft dry cloth to give it a polish.
- Try not to leave it in hot cars for extended periods.

- Try not to leave it in direct hot sun for extended periods.
- When transporting it use a padded board cover.

The fins

- The fins are handshaped from wood and polyester resin and glass.
- They are not as strong as a regular moulded plastic fin.
- Be careful when inserting fins – make sure they are all the way in – you may have to use some pressure to push them in.
- BUT when you are doing up the grub screws – don't do them up super tight – just light finger firm – because you may crack the glass and wood

Other Stuff

Don't forget Riley has shirts, fins, tide clocks and raw balsa, teak, Mahogany and DVDs & Movies.
